R. J. Neely Elected Cashier.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Deposit Bank, yesterday afternoon, Mr. R. J. Neely was unanimously elected Cashier, the position being made vacant by the death of P. I. McCarthy.

Mr. John McCarthy, a nephew of the late P. I. McCarthy, was elected individual bookkeeper in place of W. E. board, resigned.

Mr. Neely needs no eulogy from us, for he is too well known in this community, however, we will say his selection is a splendid one, and unsolicited by him. He stands high as a successful business man. He is a man of the very highest sense of business honor and integrity and popular with a host of friends. He is a worthy successor to the lamented Cashier, P. I. McCarthy.

Mr. John McCarthy, the new bookkeeper elected, has for a number of years been an efficient clerk at the L. & N. freight office in this city, and possesses all of the qualifications to fill the position he is elected to.

Resolutions.

Resolutions of respect adopted by the President and Board of Directors of the Deposit Bank of Paris on the death of P. I. McCarthy, at a meeting of said Board held at its banking house in the city of Paris, Kentucky, on Monday, May 25, 1908:

"It is with profound sorrow that we record the death of P. I. McCarthy at St. Joseph Hospital in the city of Lexington, Kentucky, on Thursday morning May 21st, 1908.

"For a period of twenty-six years he has been identified with the Deposit Bank of Paris, for the first ten years as a bookkeeper, and for the past sixteen years as Cashier. During all of this period he has been closely identified with all its interests, and as Cashier by his unselfish devotion, his broad and comprehensive knowledge of men and affairs, and his splendid abilities as a financier he has won the confidence of all with whom he came in contact, and has placed this bank upon a firm and solid basis and brought to it the highest success and prosperity:

"Therefore be it resolved by the President and Board of Directors:

"1st. That in the death of P. I. McCarthy this bank has lost a most trusted, faithful and efficient official, and the officers and employees of this bank a true and valued friend, this community an honorable, upright and public spirited citizen, his family a loving husband and devoted father and kind and affectionate brother.

"2nd. Resolved, that we tender to his family our sincere sympathy in their great affliction, and take this method of expressing our high regard and genuine affection for him

"3rd Therefore be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the records of this bank, and that a copy be sent to his family, and that the newspapers of the city be requested to publish the same.

Well-Known Versailles Man Disappears.

Sebastian Stone, coal dealer and proprietor of the Versailles Bottling Works, and one of the best known men in Versailles, disappeared last Tuesday night and no trace of him had been obtained until Friday night, although his family and friends have been telegraphing over the country and detectives have been working on the case.

Mr. Stone went to Lexington on the 7:15 o'clock interurban car Tuesday evening and was last heard of in that city between 8 and 9 o'clock. Just before leaving Versailles Stone told Hugh Howard, a young man in his employ, that if he (Stone) was not at his office next day to take certain papers from his safe and deliver them to H. A. Schoberth.

Among these papers was a letter from Stone to Schoberth requesting the latter to sell all his (Stone's) property, even his home, pay his debts, and turn over to Stone's wife in cash whatever balance remained. Stone in the letter paid a beautiful tribute to his wife, expressing his love for her, and asked Schoberth to tell her goodbye for him, as he could not do so. Stone did not say where he was going or why he was leaving. He took about $50 with him.

Stone was the trustee of several funds and an examination at the bank shows that every dollar held by him in a fiduciary capacity is on deposit and the accounts perfectly straight. There is no known reason for his leaving. Some of his friends believe his mind became unbalanced. He had worried lately over his business affairs and had acted strangely.

Mr. Schoberth, who is Stone's intimate friend, is positive he is temporarily deranged and that upon his recovery of his mental equilibrium he will return home. Stone is known throughout Kentucky as a leading Knight of Pythias and Red Man. He is past chancellor of Gray Lodge, K. P., of Versailles, and district deputy of that order. At the grand lodge meeting of Red Men in Frankfort recently he was elected grand outer guard. He is 38 years of age and has a wife, who was formerly Miss Mollie Douglas, and one child. Mrs. Stone is prostrated over her husband's disappearance.

A Mule Buries Itself.

One of a team of mules belonging to Sam Harding, while plowing on his farm, near town, suddenly disappeared, the earth giving away beneath him. The negro who was behind the plow and in charge of the team, became frightened and ran to the house. When he returned he found one mule standing where he had left him and the other one buried with only his head above the ground.

It required five hours for four men to dig the animal out. No reason can be given for the sudden giving away of the earth as the field has been in cultivation for years.

Meeting of Richard Hawes Chapter.

The meeting Saturday of the Daughters of the Confederacy in their room in the court house, was one of the most interesting of the year. The attendance was large and the program thoroughly enjoyed.

"Tell Him Not to Come," was the subject of Mrs. Amos Turney, in which she showed the distress experienced by the wife of a Confederate soldier who desired her husband to return to his family. Going to the road she was assured by the commanding officer that he was well and fighting bravely for the South, when she sent him the message above referred to.

Mrs. C. C. Leer read a paper recounting the experiences of her sister, Mrs. Alberta, now a resident of Fayette county. As General Morgan was passing her home on march from Mt. Sterling to Lexington, the horse of one of his soldiers reared up and falling backwards fell on its rider. The man in gray was so badly injured that he was left at the Alberta residence, where he was tenderly cared for. As a result of his injuries he died and was buried. When the war was over Mrs. Alberta ascertained his name and former home, and, having the body exhumed, accompanied it to Georgia, where it was interred in the family burying ground, the soldier being a member of a prominent Southern family.

The need of a home for old women, widows, mothers and sisters of Confederate soldiers was then discussed. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Bedford and Mrs. Steele Marsh, after which the Chapter adjourned.
